YEARBOOK

Well, there it is, room 309, where we spent so many enjoyable and hard-working hours. To think it's all over now, the year and the completion of the 1969-70 G.S.H.S. yearbook. Gee, we walked in the first day wondering what unique ideas the staff came up with over the summer. Before we knew it, we were soon involved in many lengthy periods of discussions and on our way to making new changes and countless decisions.

We all readily realized that a high school is a vast complex of people where many events and incidents take place. A yearbook staff must know their classmates and be able to preserve the important events of the year. It is a job that requires many talents, from being quick witted to capturing a certain spirit with a typewriter. It requires patience, creativity, and imagination.

For Miss Custer, Mrs. Connor, and our editor, hardly a week passed without a session to meet deadlines, type piles of pages, and cropping innumerable pictures.

We did have enjoyable times, too! You should have seen the kids' faces after telling them to climb a tree, crawl out a window, chase a teacher with a net, or go fly a kite (and make sure it stuck in a tree).

Now we're leaving this room probably never to enter it again. Another volume has been completed. We always hope that when our friends look through the pages, it will bring back memorable experiences of an unforgettable, fun year. The countdown of the yearbook is completed.

Den . . . in a sense, a gathering place . . .

Lion's Den . . . Appropriately named because it's a gathering of personal ideas and feelings of the students of Greensburg Salem.

Composed of the members of Journalism II Class, the newspaper presents entertainment, articles of social conflict, and an overall view of school activities. Simply, it lets us "See things how they are."

S.G.A. OFFICERS—Row 1: L. Bortz, Secretary; G. Zambano, President. Row 2: N. Glantz, Treasurer; A. Seeno, Vice President.

The Student Government Association is the power behind the student body. It acts as a go-between for the students and faculty and administration. Many problems are solved by this combining of students and authorities.

At the beginning of each new school year, homerooms elect one student to represent them in this organization. A formal installation of officers and members is then presented to the student body.

Some of the activities sponsored by S.G.A. throughout the year were the selling of Christmas candles, Sadie Hawkin's dance, paid assemblies, "Save the Children" clothing collection, senior name cards and graduation announcements.

Through the efforts of its members, officers, and sponsors, Mr. Thompson and Miss Custer, the S.G.A. has proved to be a worthy organization.

SENIOR CHOIR

The sound of music fills the air. It echoes through the corridors of time as well as in the minds of listeners.

Remember the memories of the Veteran's Day Assembly, so solemn and sincere or the special, heartwarming refrains of Christmas carols. Never forget the fun and laughter of the musical presentation of "Guys and Dolls" or the "Spring Sing." The Christmas program presented at Greengate Mall and Choir Day at California State College led to rewarding excitement.

Those very special ceremonies, Baccalaureate and Commencement, will have a special and important place in the hearts of Seniors long after they have left the halls of G.S.H.S.

Thank you, Mrs. Truxal and members of the Choir, for presenting a meaningful year of music—one which we can look back and remember.

Here they come! Aren't they impressive? What else could be expected from such a top notch band who had spent hours and hours of drilling and practice? Such precision and form! Certainly with all the awards they have won, like second place in the Miss America Pageant, first place at Edinboro (field competition), CBS-TV Thanksgiving Day Parade in Philadelphia, first place at the Columbus Day Parade in Pittsburgh, and numerous others, it was no wonder you get such a proud feeling when you can say that was our Number One band from Greensburg Salem.

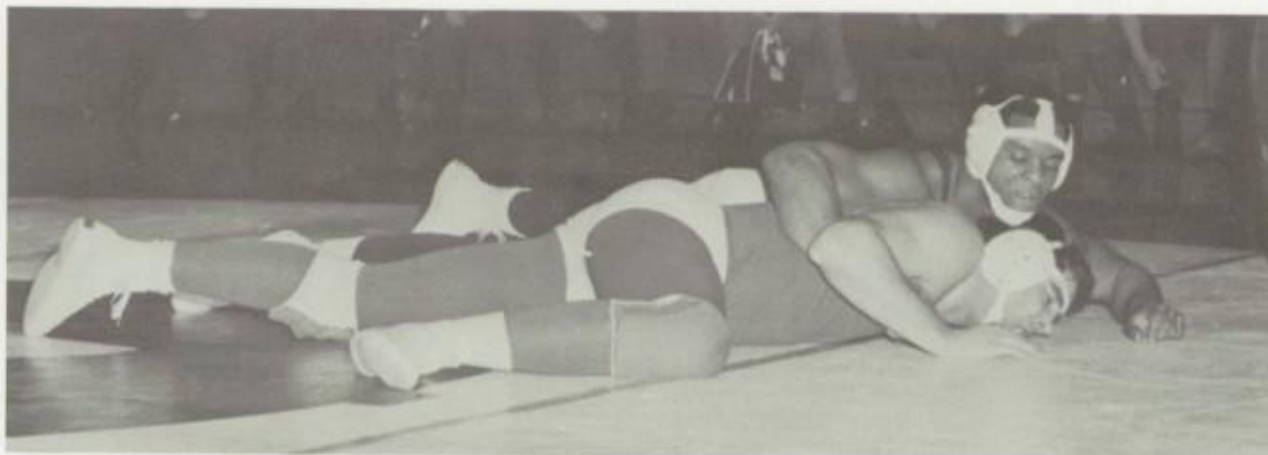

The shining instruments, the high stepping, and well-disciplined band have helped to make Greensburg Salem an outstanding and well-known school throughout the state. They have brought pride and appreciation not only to themselves but to the entire school.

Exhaustion!—M. Lumberger

Disc jockey!—D. Goodlin

A tense moment!

Hurry up! Take a picture. We can't hold this pose all day!—J. Johnston, B. Bureau Eager anticipation!

The roar of the crowd rose as the Golden Lion football squad raced on to the field. There they were, our team. From the bleachers they didn't appear to be very big or powerful, but that just goes to show, you can't judge by appearance only. It takes a lot more than just looking good to be good and this team had it. Remember, there wasn't one starter from last year's squad and these boys really started off the season with a huge handicap. Think of the many hours of practice put in by each and every member of the team. They should be praised by all of us for giving up their time, energy and efforts, for their willingness to go out and fight despite the odds, for their ability to suffer the agony of defeat and then to come roaring back with victory.

The Senior lettermen will never play another game for G.S.H.S. The future remains in the hands of the underclassmen. Good Luck! But thanks to this year's team and coaches for an exciting 1969 football season.

Basketball

A sparkling floor was ready to be trampled upon by a victorious home team. Cheerleaders were cheering their loudest. Exuberant spirit was expelled by the fans in the already crowded bleachers.

As the game started, anticipation of a home team victory could be felt throughout the game. Already a basket was made by one of our own men. What skill was displayed! How can anyone top the mighty hoopers as they dribbled their way with excellent agility and control? Anyone could see the pride and determination of each player as he skillfully maneuvered each play into action.

The seconds swiftly ticked away as the tension mounted and the final basket was attempted and sunk, leaving the home team victorious.

Hand shaking and congratulations were in order for a fine performance. A beaming smile on the face of the coach confirmed the greatness of the win.

The tension has now gone along with the fans. All that was left was the memory of a highly-deserved win.

Hours of long, hard work have gone into the making of a team that had shown a strong fight against many of the toughest teams in the section.

SENIORS

The prospects for another good season were dim at the outset. A squad of 46 boys worked hard in pre-season drills to fill in 8 starting positions left open by graduation.

Blairsville was the first victim of the Lion's green team. Through cooperation of the school administration, their match was presented as an assembly program during school hours.

Season's end found the young Lions with an outstanding list of accomplishments. The dual meet record was 10 wins, 2 losses and 2 ties. Greensburg wrestlers placed first in the Westmoreland County Coaches Association Tournament. Charles Stauffer, Keith Cunningham, and Mike Lumberger took firsts. Mickey Kenney, George McFarland, Al House, and Ron House placed second in their weights. The Golden Lion Grapplers finished a strong second in the Section Tournament. Mickey Kenney, Charles Stauffer, and Mike Lumberger (The Crabtree Three) scored with first place wins. Dom Valore and Keith Cunningham rounded out the scoring with second place finishes.

Junior Mickey Kenney established a new scoring record with a net total of 66 team points. This team helped stretch a 3 season unbeaten record to 21 before losing to Shaler. Mike Lumberger was outstanding in winning the County at 180 lbs. and the section at unlimited.

Our Lion Wrestlers did an exceptional job during the tournament season.

Kenney and Stauffer advanced to the WPIAL finals at the Pitt Field House. Stauffer scored the fastest fall of the double session to gain the runner-up title at 103.

Mickey Kenney scored two stunning victories at the Field House to become the WPIAL Champion at 95 lbs.

On the following weekend Mickey was brilliant in the PIAA finals. He thrilled a crowd of 11,300 in the State Farm Show Arena with an afternoon fall and a 5-0 performance in the evening's finals.

His thrilling performance earned him the State Championship.

The Junior Varsity team completed a fine season with a 9-3 record.

The yearbook applauds Mr. Blake, the seniors, Capt. Al House, Charles Stauffer, Keith Cunningham, Dom Valore, George McFarland, and Mike Smith for a job well done. These seniors challenge next year's squad to come up with the big TEAM EFFORT.

Fore! This was the cry of our golfers as they started out the season with four exhibition victories. The mighty Lion victories continued for the next four matches. Then we lost our only matches of the season to Hempfield and Latrobe . . . But nothing could keep our determined golfers and Coach Shuster down. We went on to win the next four matches. This tied us for the section; but although we fought hard, we lost the playoff to Hempfield.

Two of our men, Larry Smith and James McArdle, participated at Latrobe Elks with Smith shooting an 86 and McArdle an 81. Neither qualified for the final cutoff at 80.

Six golfers earned letters. Seniors: Larry Smith, Bill Driscoll, Jeff Mansfield, Rick Allwine, Robert Robosky and Junior: Jim McArdle.

Thump . . . Thump . . . again and again the ball hit the pavement. It was really getting hot. I began to wonder if my opponent would ever fail to return the ball. Finally, he missed and our team had won its eighth match, closing the 1969 season with 8 wins and 2 losses. This record earned us second place in the section.

Scott Laird and Mark Ramsay worked hard to become an undefeated doubles team. Scott also represented our school in the W.P.I.A.L. Section VI playoffs in singles and doubles.

The returning lettermen for the 1970 season were Scott Laird, Jon Rutter, and John Beavers. Their efforts combined with our coach, Mr. Kinhead, will help to make our team victorious.

What a beautiful day, not a cloud in the sky. A roar seemed to be coming from the baseball field. What a sea of humanity! The crack of the bat hitting the ball . . . a slide into third . . . a humming fast ball . . . a diving catch . . . a high fly ball into right field . . . a sharp single . . . strike three and an out . . . it was all part of the 1969 baseball season.

Coach Don Schwing with the help of Dale Hassinger closed the season with five wins and nine losses. The team was sparked by Damico with a batting average of .383, Schieb with a .333, and Pisula with a .285. Blend these all together and you have Greensburg Salem's 1969 baseball team.

"Up, up and over"—B. Rebosky

Greensburg Salem finished its 1969 track season with a victory over Wilkinsburg, ending the final varsity track meet to be held at Offut Field. Next year the Lions will use their new track at the senior high school.

Even though the 1969 team ended the season with a 2 win-6 loss record, there were several outstanding individual athletes on the team. Pat Kenney finished his senior year by taking the high scoring trophy turning in outstanding performances in the 100, 220, and 880 relay. Jr. Keith Cunningham set a new school record in the 2 mile run. Jr. broad jumper, Mike Crimboli, and javelin thrower, Bill Rebosky, turned in good performances each meet. The 880 relay team consisting of Don Bowman, Dean Rombaugh, Frank Spisso, and Pat Kenney only lost one dual meet and took a second place to Latrobe in the counties.

Coach Silvis and Baker are looking forward to the 1970 season with the aid of the new track and equipment. Again next year we will have some tremendous talent coming up from this year's undefeated junior high team.

swimming

The Lion swim team was worthy of its name. Splashing past the competition to a 10 and 4 mark, the swimmers broke 4 school records. The team finished second in the W.P.I.A.L. Section IV and fifth in Westmoreland County, making coach Rich Nichols' first full year a profitable one.

dividual medley and four hundred yard freestyle. Rick Millen broke the hundred backstroke record and Mike Boyle, Burrell Bureau, John McKelvey and John Carroll teamed up to break the 320 free-style relay record. All in all, it was a very successful season.

Today is Friday. There is sunshine, but it is still snowing. The bell rings for the four minutes. There is a sandwich and orange drink for lunch.

The cheerleaders have a pep assembly. The game is against Hempfield. There is a smile on everybody's face, but a girl cries in the corner.

The V-8 is running in the streets. In each person there is a contrast of color and form.

Potato chips and pop.

There is a strong rock and a date for tonight.

SENIOR SCRAPBOOK

From submarine sales, to candy sales, to the senior Prom and finally to graduation. We've come a long way. The trials and tribulations were great, but the outcome was exciting. Many of the things we did were similar to those done by the classes before us. But the uniqueness of the kids in the class of "70" was the factor that made our experiences different. We took college boards, participated in a class play, received class rings, and decorated for the Prom. Other classes did the same things, though, but they never had a talent assembly with human props or a pep assembly for the Hempfield football game with the best student support ever. The class of "70" wasn't afraid to be different and that's what, basically, made it different.

We can sit down in our easy chairs years from now and reminisce. We can brood about the past—complain about the mistakes we've made. But why don't we just live now. We can never change what has passed, so why not just better ourselves today for tomorrow. All look forward to the senior year—and later wonder why. Does being a senior give one a feeling of superiority that really is of little importance? All that the senior year offers many is a feeling of apathy toward schoolwork, a rest before college, and another year to think and probe the inner self. It is truly sad, because every day becomes a boring routine—experience with graduation as the only goal. To many the means of obtaining that goal is unimportant! But we'll forget the feelings and inner conflicts of our senior year and will only remember selling candy or electing class officers. We'll forget names and faces and remember unimportant events. And the little guy that always sat in the corner—the one that was just never “with it” will be forgotten completely. Whatever happens to these individuals that helped to make the whole of our class? Who knows and really who cares? So when sitting in that easy chair, why won't we recall the friendly smile of that girl whose name we never chanced to know or the guy that was never accepted because his ideas were different.

Time Out—M. Smith, T. Duffus

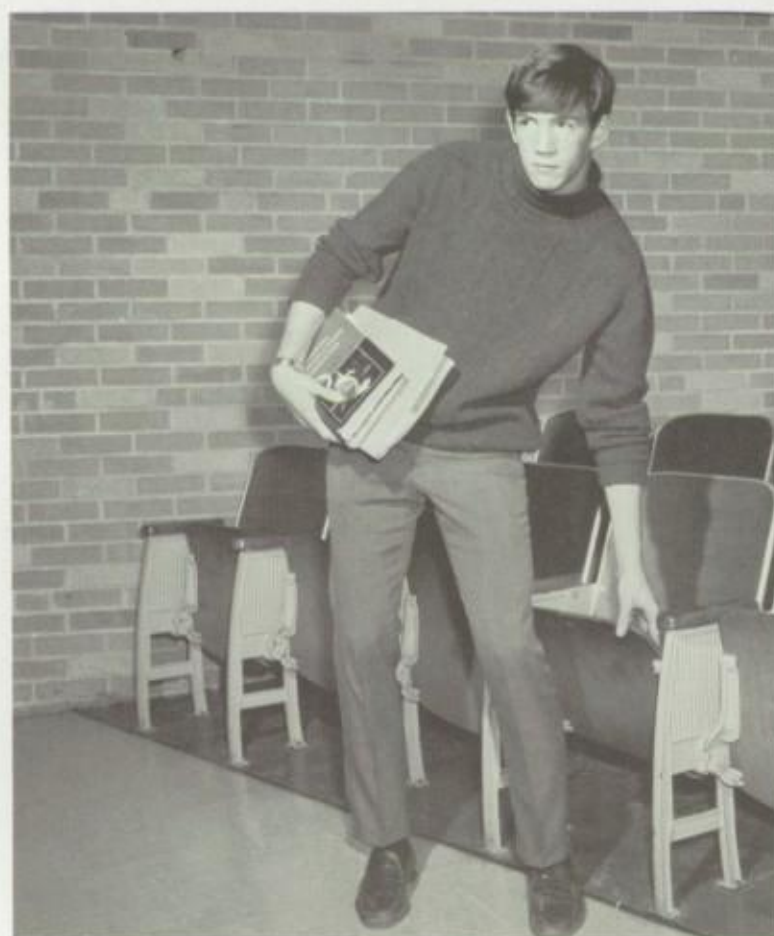

Halls of Glory

In our society many people perform deeds for others and are oftentimes passed by unnoticed. Likewise, so many people go unappreciated in this compact society, called high school, and one group consists of the administrators, the ruling body, the teaching body. Many cringe when they hear the words "establishment" and "rule." Immediately, heads are turned, minds are "tuned out." But if it wasn't for some type of rule or some so-called rulers, how would this establishment exist? Many people wholeheartedly give to make this a better community. And just over three years, a change for the better has obviously taken place and continued change will occur if students and leaders "get together, work together, and stay together." For students, however, many new and more liberal rules will only be temporarily effective. Therefore, it is the teachers and administration that will be affected more permanently. So the students that feel "cheated" when their suggestions for liberalization are turned down should realize that those that will be affected more should have some say in determining the rules. If this is taken into consideration and some self-interest is left out, many won't jump to hasty conclusions or dangerously seek powers that they may not be capable of handling. Certain privileges will be attained, or earned, when the majority of students can accept the responsibility that goes along with them. But the faculty must also be able to realize the fact that students should be given a chance to probe themselves worthy of their privileges. The point, however, is that striking a person down won't make them hear what you have to say, but cooperating, suggesting, and striving together will. In the meantime, shouldn't those who have helped a person get into college or keep one out of trouble or give one a larger store of knowledge with which he can develop his character be appreciated? After all, I'm sure if many of us look at ourselves and imagine trying to control or teach a group exactly like it, we'd shy away and say, "Give the job to someone else." Deep inside many of us appreciation is there. It is hard for some to release their "thanks," but just feeling it is a step in the right direction.

You don't know what I have to go through to see you!—S. Bair, R. Zello

School life is full of activities that lend to better relationships and relaxation from pressures in the classroom. Of the various activities, however, a group of them in which many participate, by either attendance or actual physical participation, comes under the heading "athletics." Each class looks forward to a good football season, a great golf record, top basketball and wrestling results and high standings in the various other sports. It seems that to many, a good season in sports means a successful senior year. But is it really important? 1969-70 hasn't been the most outstanding year as far as seasonal sports records are concerned. However, if each guy that participated in an intermural athletic event became a better person in some way, then our records were high. When a guy goes out on a football field, for example, he has to learn to depend on "teamwork" to win the game. He must realize that a group with many small talents can be a more powerful force than one outstanding player. He must also realize that wanting to win or wanting to accomplish any goal, for that matter, is a powerful factor in achieving that goal. And if one of the guys in this class learned to accept a loss as he accepted a win, and if he learned the basic concepts of sportsmanship—then our season was successful. That athlete will be a better man and, by his accomplishments, he will be able to help those around him become better persons.

And now, what is graduation? For many seniors graduation day is a day of freedom. For others it is a climax, a turning point. It may be a turn for the better; but, on the other hand, it may also be a turn for the worse. First of all, there is the good change. A large percentage of our class will attend college or technical schools, get a job, or become members of the armed forces. These students will be searching for the better half of life—they will be searching for their true identities by their association with other people. It's a big world and there are a tremendous amount of opportunities. But how many will search for their opportunity? Getting out of high school will be a fabulous feeling; but when we have to come face-to-face with the world—when we have to build communications with people of all ages, in all positions, of all colors, religions, and races, will we be capable of handling it? Will we be able to accept a wider variety of individuals with their more unique or maybe more outlandish concepts that we've never chanced to have association with in our small secure stereotyped society? For each individual the experience of personal associations will be different. Each will handle them in a different manner and each will have different results. How we accept and respond to others will, however, help us to develop ourselves so that we can help to better develop our society. On the other hand, there will be some students that will face the world with a negative attitude. Usually, this group consists of those that needed the most attention and understanding in school but were merely overlooked or disregarded by fellow classmates and, perhaps, some teachers. We can label this group "delinquents," but so many of them became that way because of environment and they received their label as a result of environment. Many of them will corrupt society by stealing, killing, destroying, and performing many other wrongdoings. If a small portion of society would have only spent a little time helping these people to discover themselves, maybe this group would be helping the poor, teaching the ignorant, or performing worthwhile deeds for their own community some day. By helping others to help themselves, we can, in effect, help ourselves. Isn't it worth a little effort? Well, graduation will mean something different for everyone. The results will be unique. So whether you will be helping or hurting society will depend on the kind of person you were—the person you are now—the kind of person you are trying to become. If we try to understand ourselves, we can all help society; and the effort will surely be worth it.

A time to remember

'68, '69, '70—three great fulfilling years. They are three years that many of us will hate to see left behind. However, if each one of us retains our identities, if each one accepts themselves instead of searching for a facade behind which he can hide, the uniqueness of the class of "70" will live and continue to live even after each has cleared his own personal path in society's wilderness.

New Student Day and a new school with new routines . . . How would I find my way to all my classes? Everything was strange. Those upperclassmen just stared. How uneasy I felt!

But time passed and I was helping our class to become one of the best sophomore classes. I knew our class would be different from all the others. With the help of our officers and Mr. Stern, our sponsor, money raising projects were being planned. Before long I was selling magazine subscriptions and then refreshments at the basketball and wrestling events. I also sold the most delicious chocolate candy bars.

But it wasn't all work. I yelled my loudest at the pep assemblies, and I remember the fun I had making pep signs. I had a great time at our Halloween party. Helping with our class play, "Arsenic and Old Lace," was even more fun.

What a great year it has been! I've come a long way and I know next year will be even more rewarding.

JUNIORS

It has really been a great year. There have been a lot of changes from last year—being a junior was one.

Every junior will remember choosing class ring colors, green or gold, and then the waiting that seemed forever. But they soon arrived, and we realized that the months of waiting were worth it.

We followed the Junior tradition of selling chocolate covered almonds and selling refreshments at the basketball games. The decisions of what, when, where, and how were the exciting involvements of sponsoring the Prom, "Casino Royale." It has also been a year for tests.

The end of our school years are near, and there is so little time to plan our future careers.

Good grief!—C. Detar

Who are they? Why are they needed?
Could our schools get along without them?
No! These are the members of our administration; these are the ones who support our educational programs; these are the ones who support our efforts, who have our interest at heart.

With the administration comes our fine cooperative faculty. They are really appreciative of our efforts and we, as the student body, of theirs.

No school is any better than its administration and its faculty. We have a system about to undergo a phenomenal change.

Hats off to them!
